(ii) Readability and Organization

Very poor	Weak	Satisfactory	Good	Very good
0	1	2	3	4

This is an overall impression mark of the readability and organization of the candidate's work.

The following should be considered:

- The general organization of the article. The article can be organized in different ways but it should be easy to follow.
- The logical organization of ideas. Related or similar ideas are grouped together logically and presented in a logical order.
- The use of paragraphing to help the reader follow the organization of the article.
- The use of signposts or cohesive devices to link ideas, showing, for example, contrast, similarity, continuation.
- The appropriate use of generality, specifics, and examples to effectively make points.

To get a 4, the candidate need not demonstrate all of these things, nor need he/she use them without error.

If the candidate gets fewer than 20 ‘content points’ correct, the mark for ‘readability and organization’ must be no higher than 2.

(iii) Language

Very poor	Weak	Satisfactory	Good	Very good
0	1	2	3	4

This is an overall impression mark for language used. The assessment should be based on only the candidates’ own language and/or their attempts to paraphrase; sections of the article which consist of text copied verbatim from the Data File should not be considered.

The following areas should be considered:

- vocabulary (range, variety, accuracy)
- grammar (range, variety, accuracy)
- spelling

To obtain a 4, the candidate’s work need not be error-free.

If the candidate is awarded fewer than 20 content points, the mark for ‘language’ must be no higher than 2.

Sample Essay:

Médecins Sans Frontières - the Saviour of the Hopeless

1. MSF's Background

Médecins Sans Frontières (MSF) is one of the world's greatest charitable organizations. Founded in 1971 (DF 4/6), this neutral and independent (DF 4) organization has 5 operational centres and 14 support sections (DF 5) worldwide. It performs humanitarian work (DF 4), aiming to assist countries which have inadequate or even no health structures (DF 4), to make people more aware of crisis situations (DF 4), and to protect basic human rights (DF 4). Owing to its tremendous contributions to world peace, MSF was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1999 (DF 6).

2. MSF Hong Kong

It is our pride that MSF has a branch in Hong Kong. Back in 1988, MSF began its work in Hong Kong (DF 7) to offer medical services in Vietnamese refugee camps (DF 7). Later in 1994, MSF Hong Kong was established (DF 7) as a support section (DF 5). It is responsible for funding, human resources, communications and technical support (DF 5). It allocates its resources to relief work in several continents. For example, in 2005, more than half of the funds went to Africa (DF 5); some of the proceeds went to Asia (DF 5); and a small proportion of them went to Europe and South America (DF 5).

3. Humanitarian Work

(a) Achievements

The achievements of MSF are great. In Haiti, more than 8,000 people have been treated by the MSF trauma centre (DF 8). In Sierra Leone, MSF surgeons save pregnant women from dying because of difficult delivery by offering them emergency surgical treatment (DF 8). In Pakistan, it set up an inflatable hospital immediately after an earthquake that occurred in October 2005 (DF 8). In Liberia, it established the Mamba Point Hospital with a view to curing patients who are in urgent need of surgical and medical treatment (DF 8).

(b) Setbacks

However, it is sad that MSF cannot always accomplish its tasks since violence is prevalent in many countries receiving its assistance. There was a serious incident in Somalia on December 27, 2006 (DF 8). MSF medical staff was pressured by representatives of military forces, who seized all in-patient medical files (DF 8). The representatives' act obviously violated international humanitarian law (DF 8).

4. Volunteers' Experience

(a) Elaine Lau

In fact, security (DF 9) is a knotty problem facing MSF volunteers. According to Elaine Lau, a nurse and medical doctor (DF 9), her life was at risk on the field any time. Another challenge for her was that she felt detached from her own society (DF 9) after her mission. Nonetheless, participating in voluntary work is always worthwhile. Lau explained that having worked with other volunteers with a different background, she had learnt from them (DF 9) and become their close friends (DF 9). The fact that she had to work in harsh conditions also enabled her to understand the world better (DF 9) and to manage stress (DF 9).

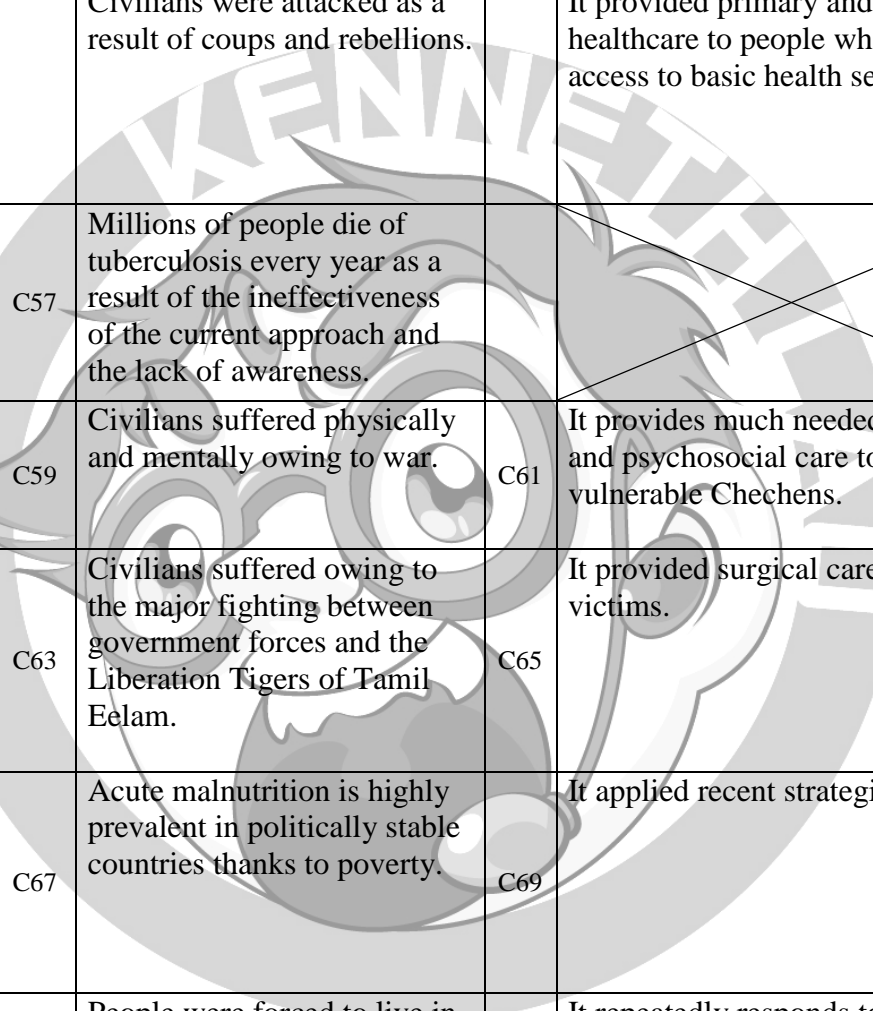

(b) Edwin Salvador

Edwin Salvador, a medical doctor and project coordinator (DF 10), encountered quite a few challenges. First, he had to unite their national staff (DF 10) with different backgrounds. Second, he found it difficult for a visitor like him to work with national staff in foreign countries (DF 10). Third, he should speak up (DF 10) so as not to be misunderstood. Finally, there were disagreements (DF 10) between volunteers. However, like Lau, he benefited greatly from the work. Now, he has learnt to tackle problems actively (DF 12). Moreover, he realized that he needed to use his hands more (DF 12) to do things.

5. Conclusion

For years, MSF has been working hard to restore the hopes of numerous unfortunate people living in life-threatening conditions. It is, therefore, absolutely their saviour. If you want to know more about this humanitarian organization, please visit its website, www.msf.org (DF 2).
